

Advice to the C&WM Member

v04.17

- Remember that you are a guest on the property.
- Within statutory and C&WM policy, procedure, instruction and guideline limitations, it is the landowner's/manager's right to determine what, when, how and by whom any activity is to be carried out, and their direction is final.
- A minimum of two financial, accredited C&WM members are required for an activity to proceed.
- Offer to show your current firearms licence, hunting permit, SSAA and C&WM membership cards.
- If native species are to be culled check if DEWNR* "Permit to Destroy Wildlife" is required. Sight permit to confirm it is current, check the number of animals permitted to be taken, that the participating C&WM members are listed to undertake the cull, that firearms are the approved method of control, and that you adhere to any permit conditions.
- Where applicable, "Permission to Hunt on Private Land" form is completed and signed.
- It is the landowner's/manager's right to notify C&WM for action to be taken if any aspect of the activity is not to their approval/satisfaction.
- Prior approval from the landowner/manager and Activity Coordinator (telephone call or email) must be obtained before each visit to the property.
- Please refer to our Drug and Alcohol Policy which outlines our position regarding their consumption. A 0.00% blood alcohol level is required when undertaking shooting activities.
- Remember that you are representing C&WM and any inappropriate behaviour reflects on the rest of our membership - many find rough language, alcohol and smoking offensive.
- Offer to "lend a hand" on the property if opportunity arises.
- Agree on UHF channel for communication.
- Humane treatment of animals is essential – prompt follow-up shot and destruction of dependent young are a must.
- It is your right (courteously) to withdraw if any situation is perceived to be unsafe, inappropriate or illegal.
- All standard C&WM policies, procedures, instructions and guidelines apply.
- Complete Activity Tally and Activity Reports and circulate copies to the landowner/manager, as well as the C&WM Council (activityreports@conservation-wildlife.asn.au) and team members, at the completion of the activity.
- All communications with the landowner/manager are to be sent to or discussed with the Activity Coordinator first, as they are the designated liaison person for C&WM. If an issue is sensitive, it should first be presented to the C&WM President or Council.
- Any communication with the media or supplying information to be published in any external format is to be reviewed and approved by the C&WM President (president@conservation-wildlife.asn.au) or Council (secretary@conservation-wildlife.asn.au), prior to release.
- Your rewards are in access to the property and an opportunity to make lasting friendships and create goodwill for all shooting sports.
- The Activity Coordinator is: Tel:
